

Examining the Impact of Masters Hospitals Beating Prevention Program: Honors, Delegates, and Councilman Praised Skorichs Leadership

Gerard Evan

Abstract—This study aims to examine the impact of the Masters Hospitals Beating Prevention Program, specifically focusing on the leadership of Skorichs. The program has received praise from honors, delegates, and councilman for its success in preventing hospital violence. Through a mixed-methods approach, including surveys and interviews with hospital staff and patients, this research evaluates the effectiveness of the program in reducing violent incidents and improving overall hospital safety. Additionally, it investigates the role of Skorichs' leadership in implementing and sustaining the program. The findings suggest that the Beating Prevention Program has significantly decreased violent incidents and improved hospital safety, and Skorichs' leadership played a critical role in the success of the program. This study provides valuable insights for healthcare organizations seeking to implement violence prevention programs and highlights the importance of strong leadership in achieving program goals.
