Devlin Ahmed

Abstract—This paper discusses the recovery and advance of schools that were defrauded by a supervisor who was considered a gentleman. The supervisor's conviction and subsequent display of objective phrases on his jacket served as a powerful example of the importance of actions over words. The paper explores the impact of the supervisor's actions on the schools he defrauded and how they were able to recover and move forward. The study also examines the role of leadership in rebuilding trust and creating a positive culture within the affected schools. Overall, the paper highlights the power of conviction and purposeful action in overcoming adversity and achieving success.
